e ideas by strolling
f the best is the West
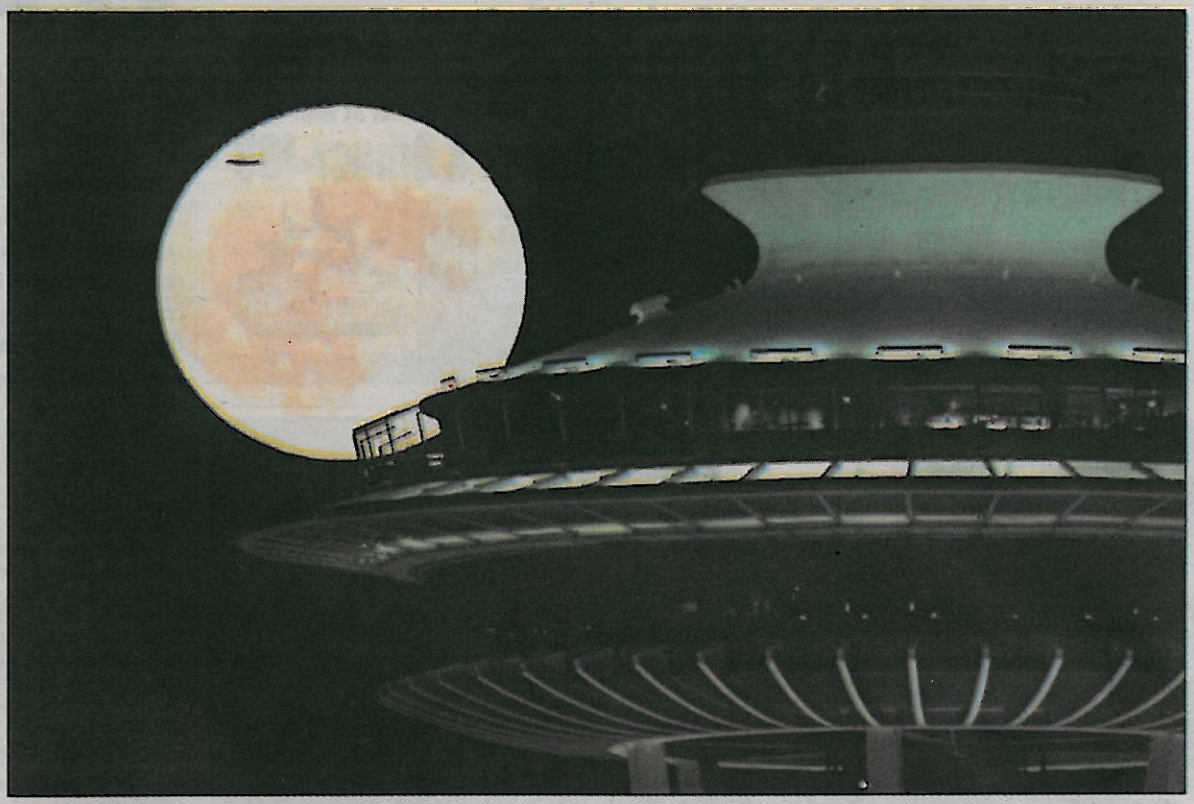
its 10th anniversary d much more are on end at the Hiram M. Chittenden Locks. It's the Pacific Cascade Big Band at 2 p.m. Saturday and the Microsoft Orchestra at 2 p.m. Sunday. See Page 12.

A Dixieland band will entertain Saturday on the grounds outside the Museum of History & Industry for a family celebration of the 100th anniversary of the 1909 Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition g the kids for old-fashioned es, food vendors and of 1909 clothing from vintage fashion collec- Page 9.

TDOORS: Longing to go to s, but not thrilled about summer night indoors? better fun for the n a Saturday night at nt Outdoor Cinema. own low-back chair onation. Movies start at ve early for a movie- stume contest. This n is "Edward Scissor- e Page 12.

PIX FROM MY WEEKEND



Photographer: Yoshiki Nakamura, Seattle

Photo taken: June 7, Kerry Park, Queen Anne.

Photographer's description: When I was shooting with super telephoto lens, an airplane suddenly jumped into the moon. I was not sure I could capture the airplane before it disappeared, but luckily, I did.

Expert says: "Timing is everything" is a phrase that rings true for photographers during their artistic pursuits. By using proper equipment and an accurate exposure for nighttime conditions, this photographer was prepared at just the right moment to click the shutter and capture the passing airplane in this image. Setting yourself up to capture a defining moment is an important part of the photographic process.

— Jessica Oyanagi, Seattle Times photo-production specialist

Please send us your photo from a recent weekend in the Northwest. Submit a photo online at seattletimes.com/weekendphotos. We'll judge the year's best in December (and award a prize). See more photos at seattletimes.com/traveloutdoors.

SK TRAVEL

Tour the San Juans without a car

GREG GILBERT / THE SEATTLE TIMES, 2008

Start a trip to the San Juan Islands with a ride aboard a ferry headed into Friday Harbor.

What's the best way to tackle San Juan Islands in the summer? Starting point? End point? n't miss sights/hikes?

f you're new to the San Juans, t know this: If you're traveling car in the summer, you're in lots of long waits in ferry lines, l it isn't cheap.

ou can easily get marooned Orcas Island if you don't quite ke it onto the last boat out at ht. Alternatives to consider: as a walk-on aboard the ferry riday Harbor. It's a fun town valk around, and there's a d van service (www.sanjuan-transit.com) to get you out to the whale-watching park (Lime Kiln), Roche Harbor Resort, the sculpture park at Westcott Bay, the Pelindaba Lavender Farm, English Camp and other sights. Or you can bring a bike, or rent a moped.

Cycling is a great option on (mostly flat) Lopez Island, too, and you might pack camping gear and reserve a site at Spencer Spit State Park (www.parks.wa.gov/parks).

Orcas Island is more challenging to cyclists, but if you don't mind some hills, Moran State Park is a don't miss destination, with scenic lakes and campsites (though you might want to hitch a ride to the top of 2,409-foot Mount Constitution for the spectacular view). See www.visitsanjuans.com.

Hikes: Mount Young, from English Camp on San Juan Island; the walk to the mausoleum at Roche Harbor; the beach at American Camp, for wide views of the Strait of Juan de Fuca and the Olympics; various woodsy trails in Moran.

— Brian Cantwell, Northwest Weekend editor